WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The administration was headed today for another showdown fight in congress over its foreign policy, with emphasis this time on the aid to Russia program.

The next big legislative test, leaders of both factions agreed, probably will come soon after the current 30-day unofficial congressional recess when President Roosevelt is expected to ask for more lease-lend money.

Request In Making

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has announced that this request is in the making, and most observers believe it will be for another $7,000,000—matching the sum previously voted for the aid-to-democracies program.

In any event, whatever the amount or whenever the time, non-interventionists served notice today that they will make an all-out attempt to block any of the money going to Russia.

Renew Fight

Rep. Tinkham (R) Mass., author of the original ban-Russia motion, announced, however, that he will renew the fight in the next bill and predicted "strong support from all sides."

PA NEW C OBSERVES

Over two inches of rain, which fell throughout yesterday raised the local streams to one of the highest points since last spring. The Shenango river was near the seven-foot mark this morning, but smaller streams swelled rapidly.

Once again, South Side stores are cooperating in advertising Old Timers Day with a wonderful display of old time relics. Fisher's Big Store has a wonderful display of old quilts made by the loving hands of some of Lawrence county's pioneer women; another store has antiques, articles which were used in Lawrence county homes a hundred years or more ago, while a barber shop is featuring old picture of South Side pioneers.

According to a release from the war department, the estimated strength of the United States army on August 14, was 1,545,400 men. Of this number, 517,000 are regular army men, 281,900 national guard, 65,000 reserve officers and 681,500 selective service trainees.

Dollar Day Clicks Despite Weather

The rains came Friday—and the "Dollar Day" crowds did, too.

Telephonic reports from a cross-section of New Castle stores disclosed this morning that yesterday's special merchandise event "shattered many records" in spite of the dampness.

Attractive offerings, well advertised before, brought out throngs which splashed across flooded streets and mingled in counter jams in the best of good humor. No one seemed to mind the rain much.

John O. Huston, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, the sponsor of the sale, said the telephone check indicated "the sale topped even the highest expectations." He said 48 stores participated.

Crowds centered yesterday about the silk stocking counters in many stores, as was to be expected. And the menfolk joined Milady in the rush, for it seems they want to stock up on the sheer hose for themselves, too.

Satisfied though all the merchants were, they're hoping sooner or later a Dollar Day will get a sweeter blessing from the weatherman—or some sunshine.

Choral Singing To Be Feature

Huge Chorus To Present
Special Numbers At Gymanfa Gannu August 31

DR. GRIFFITH JONES

While the entire audience will be one big chorus at the Gymanfa Gannu, or singing festival, which will be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral Sunday afternoon and evening, August 31, the choral work from the choir will be a spectacle and a feature.

The New Castle chorus will be the nucleus of the augmented "true" but added to the New Castle choristers will be singers from Sharon Youngtown, Aliquippa and other cities. As the conductor of the day, Dr. Griffith Jones of Cleveland, O. will serve and few musicians of the country surpass him in ability.

Composer-Director

Dr. Jones is a composer and a director. At the present time he is conducting special musical events at Winona Lake, Ind., and prior to that directed a special music course in the University of Idaho, at Moscow, Idaho. He has had a wide experience in radio and motion picture musical features and has been called to Hollywood a number of times to direct and supervise musical effects.

1941 Records Show Fire Losses Small

With 7½ Months Gone Average Monthly Loss Has
Been approximately $9,000

With two thirds of the year over, fire damages in the city have been surprisingly small, records at Central station disclosed today.

Losses were estimated to be close to $75,000, or an average of slightly more than $9,000 a month. The damages were caused by 67 blazes.

Two downtown blazes alone were tabbed as $35,000 fires, while damages resulting from other conflagrations ranged from $150 up.

"With more than eight months of the year over" an official said today, "it's surprising to note that a city the size of New Castle has suffered such a surprisingly small loss. Barring major fires from now until the close of the year, total damages for 1941 may not exceed $100,000, at least let's hope so."

As of today, firemen have received 283 calls, an average of more than one daily.

So far, 24 false alarms have been turned in.

Officers Halt
Lynching Mob

ROXBORO, N. C., Aug. 16.—A mob estimated at 500 persons was held at bay by officers today after storming the Pearson county court house and jail at Roxboro in an attempt to lynch a 22-year-old negro accused of assaulting a white girl.

The mob, including some men armed with guns and clubs, stormed into the court house at 10 p. m. last night, but was prevented from reaching the negro, held in a jail cell on the second floor of the building.

Several shots were fired and considerable damage to the court house was reported, but no one was injured. State highway patrolmen and police from Durham, N. C., were summoned to aid in restoring order.

The situation was reported quiet early today, although members of the mob, assembled from all parts of the county, remained at the scene.

The negro was booked as George Winstead, and was accused of criminal assault on a 20-year-old girl.

Pittsburgh Lad Drawn Into Sewer Saved By Brother

Current In Brook On Harlansburg Farm Sucks Boy

David McClure, aged 11 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Park McClure, of 5459 Stanton avenue, Pittsburgh, is little the worse today for a harrowing experience he had late Friday afternoon when he was sucked into a sewer drain under the roadway on the old Harlan farm, just south of Harlansburg, and narrowly escaped being drowned. Only heroic work on the part of his older brother Robert, saved the lad's life.

The boys were playing in the swollen waters of a small creek running through the farm, which ran through the discharge pipe under the roadway, when suddenly David was caught in a swirl and drawn down into the pipe, becoming wedged there. Robert noticed his plight immediately, and disregarding his own danger, went to his rescue dislodging him. David went on through the pipe and was dragged to safety at the other end.

He was rushed to the Jameson Memorial hospital and placed in an oxygen tent, and by this morning was out of danger.

The McClure family spends its summers on the farm, which is owned by them.

President Roosevelt Expected To Land At Rockland, Me., Late Today

ROCKLAND, Maine, Aug. 16.—A bit more of the mystery surrounding the high seas conference of President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill was to be dispelled—maybe—when the chief executive returns to this Maine fishing port this afternoon.

Before boarding his special train for a direct run back to Washington the president was expected to hold a press conference. Every opportunity will then be given Mr. Roosevelt to elaborate upon the respective actions he and Churchill agreed upon to bring about "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Interest In Plan

There was particular interest, as the president terminated his 8-point war aim cruise, in the locations of the possible "further fighting fronts" which Russian Premier Josef (Continued On Page Two)

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 16.—A giant nation-wide demonstration against "Nazi tyranny" today closed down all commercial and industrial activity throughout Argentina as more than 2,000,000 workers laid down their tools as a gesture of "solidarity with Britain the United States and Russia."

The closure was total. Only public utilities and newspapers continued to operate.

A great anti-Nazi mass meeting was scheduled to be held in Buenos Aires tonight, attended by hundreds of thousands of persons including provincial union delegations.

German stores which opened as usual this morning were closed down in a hurry after the windows of several were broken.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)

The world today still talked of nothing else but the 8-point exposition of war and peace aims by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Berlin, jubilant over further victories in the Ukraine, insisted the statement was a "flop and blunder," and intended only to "reassure the Red dictator" without doing anything practical to aid Russia or affect the outcome of the war.

Blitz Progresses

The German high command announced that the Nazi drive into the Ukraine was progressing at a blitz pace and that complete victory in this theater of war was only a matter of days, if not hours.

Moscow had nothing to say about specific engagements on any front but declared Soviet troops were "stubbornly resisting" in the Ukraine.

Meanwhile, Premier Josef Stalin speedily accepted the Roosevelt-Churchill proposal for a three-power war conference in the Soviet capital. He urged that the meeting be held as soon as possible, and British authorities expected that sessions might begin within a few days. (Continued On Page Two)

Hundreds Of Thousands

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Russian losses in the Ukrainian debacle will amount to nearly one million men killed, wounded, or captured, German military officials said today.

"Hundreds of thousands" of Red troops have been killed, authoritative informant asserted, and the Luftwaffe is carrying out a gigantic campaign in conjunction with the Nazi army to cut off the escape of the remainder of the Soviet army of the Ukraine.

Today's GHQ communique said: "Operations on the entire Eastern front are progressing successfully according to plan."

Closing Drive

With the drive in the southwest drawing to a close, the Germans said Russian defenses of the Volga and Caspian regions have been left "vulnerable weak," and early penetration of the Crimean Peninsula was looked for.

The Luftwaffe yesterday ceaselessly battered Red troops encircled in the Odessa area, it was declared, while German troops snapped shut two more "iron rings" in the Southern Ukraine.

Two thousand prisoners, 6 field guns, and 14 anti-tank guns were taken from one ring. Thousands of Soviet troops and inestimable booty were said to be in the other ring.

Meanwhile, the German radio declared that 15 troop-laden ferries had been destroyed on the Dnieper river. Soviet troops in this area are "partly encircled," it was said. (Continued On Page Two)

Mud And Rubbish Deposited By Rain Being Cleaned Up

Pittsburgh Digging In After Record Downpour To Clean Up Streets

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Double shifts of city service employees today were engaged in cleaning up the hundreds of tons of mud and rubbish deposited on Pittsburgh streets by the heaviest two-hour downpour in the 70-year-history of the local weather bureau.

The record-breaking rain storm disrupted traffic and business, marooned hundreds of pedestrians and motorists, and inundated low areas under depths ranging as high, in one extreme point, to seven or eight feet.

Several persons had narrow escapes from possible death by drowning, as the water halted their cars. One man, truck driver James Priore, was marooned on top of his cab in a depression on Washington boulevard, and watched the water rise to his knees before it finally reached a crest.

Between 10 a. m. and 11 a. m. yesterday morning the heavy storm spilled 1.89 inches of rain on the city, and by noon the total was 2.31 inches. The total for the day was 2.4 inches, the highest in 11 years for a 24-hour period.

(International News Service)

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 16.—With seven persons already dead and 113 others stricken with ptomaine poisoning the Japanese liner Tatuta Maru today was staging a dramatic race for death roll at a minimum.

The Tatuta Maru was en route back from San Francisco, where she was the center of an international wrangle over her rich silk cargo.

Sixteen doctors and nurses were being rushed with medical assistance by launch to the Ta uta Maru as she neared port.

The other poison victims were said to be in critical condition.

Cause of the poisoning was not revealed in appeals for aid flashed from the vessel. But the Tatuta Maru had been about a month out of Japan—having cruised off San Francisco for a week before she put in under Washington assurances that she would not be detained—and she took on a few supplies in California, so some of her food may have spoiled.

The medical launch, it was understood, was trying to intercept the Tatuta Maru in Tokyo bay off Yokohama.

Russia Accepts War Conference Bid

Full Co-Operation Pledged By Stalin

United States Probably To Be Represented By Harry Hopkins

WILL MAP TERMS FOR RUSSIAN AID

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Aug. 16.—Soviet Russia today accepted with speed and enthusiasm the Anglo-American proposal for a three-power war conference in Moscow, and Premier-Dictator Josef Stalin urged that the meeting be held as soon as possible.

Stalin declared his readiness to "take all necessary steps for speedy conversations on the proposed conference in Moscow."

Stalin himself, in his dual role of premier and defense commissar, will be the chief Russian delegate, it was believed.

Eden or Beaverbrook

"London predicted that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden or Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply who now is in Washington, would head the British delegation. London also expected that Harry L. Hopkins, American lease-lend administrator who visited Moscow recently and who took part in the Roosevelt-Churchill meetings at sea, will be the chief American representative."

The proposal for a Moscow meeting to talk over means of delivering "the very maximum" aid to Russia and mapping "long term" plans to crush the Axis came from President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain.

It was transmitted to the Kremlin in personal visits by the American and British ambassadors, Laurence A. Steinhardt and Sir Stafford Cripps.

Stalin, playing a new role in international affairs, asked the ambassadors to convey the Soviet government's thanks to Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill for their readiness to help the Soviet Union.

Full Cooperation

In return, he pledged the fullest cooperation with the forthcoming conference.

Coincident with the meeting between Stalin and the ambassadors, the official Moscow radio announced that the council of people's commissars ratified new trade arrangements made between the United States and U. S. R. on August 2.

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov, whom Stalin supplanted as premier nearly three months ago, was present at the meeting with the American and British diplomats.

"Our officials talk a fierce war. But if another nation's behavior merits denunciation, it merits a lot more."

He simply lifted the rooster off the bumper and handed it to the informant with a request to "cook it for your Sunday dinner."

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENT

As plans rapidly shaped for the momentous conference, the Russian military situation continued to deteriorate. Berlin said that Russian losses in the Ukraine debacle will amount to nearly one million men killed, wounded, or captured.

Moscow announced that "fierce fighting continued along the whole front," but asserted that large-scale attempts by the Germans to land parachute troops in the rear of Red lines in the Ukraine had been smashed by the Soviet air force.

British planes staged new daylight air raids on German occupied France. Soviet planes attacked northeastern Germany and one plane penetrated to Berlin. Moscow said an attempted German raid on the Soviet capital was beaten off.

Purpose Of Meeting

Washington foresaw vastly important moves behind the early Moscow meeting. Real purposes of the conferences were said to be:

1. To seek to draw Russia into the Anglo-American plan for a new world war.

2. To learn the strategic position of the Red armies and sound out Stalin on the possibility of providing the Soviet general staff with British military advisors.

3. To seek assurances that the Soviet Far Eastern army will be maintained intact as a check on Japan.

In general, the main aim of the conference will be to keep the Russians fighting as long as possible.

Further light on the objectives of Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill may be forthcoming later today when the President lands at Rockland, Me.

Information in London agreed with the Washington view that the parley in Moscow would range far beyond the matter of sending "the very maximum" aid to the U. S. S. R. There was some expectation that military staff officers would accompany the delegations.

War Council

The Times of London even discussed the possibility that a supreme war council may be formed eventually.

Some sections of the British press resumed pleas that Britain stage everything on a major land diversion or counter-invasion in an attempt to draw off part of the German force from Russia.

Stalin himself was expected to head the Russian delegation at the meeting. London saw Harry L. Hopkins, lend-lease administrator, as the probable chief American representative.

sentative. The British were reported planning to send either Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden or Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, who now is in Washington.

"The American people do not wish to help that dictatorial power, and many congressmen have promised me they will support a motion to prevent her getting any lease-lend money at this time."

On the senate side of the capitol, Sen. Reynolds (D) N. C., chairman of the military affairs committee, made the move to bar Russia "initially and he was expected to renew the demand again."

All of the non-interventionist senators and others who are "on the fence" are expected to support him, thus paving the way for a showdown battle in both houses.

nouncement said, smashed large-scale attempts by the Germans to land parachute troops in the rear of the Soviet lines in the Ukraine.

Meanwhile Germany's newest offensive, opened three days ago along the entire length of the front from Finland to the Ukraine, continued with unabated fury. Premier Josef Stalin's defense commissariat gave out little information concerning the fighting, and did not even claim that the Russian lines were holding.

"Fierce fighting continued along the whole front all day Friday," the early Moscow war communiqué said today.

It added that in attacks on German airdromes and planes in the air, the Red sky fleet accounted for 21 planes, while the Soviets lost 11. The Red air force also kept up its unrelenting attacks on German and other enemy troops.

A supplementary bulletin added that "Soviet fighter planes routed troop-carrying air transports which attempted to land parachutes in the rear of the Russian army in the Ukraine."

Most of the transports were driven back, and five were shot down, and more than 100 German officers and men were killed or captured.

Place Control On Vanadium Metal

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Vanadium, a vital national defense metal used in making high strength steel, was placed under priority control today in an order signed by OPM Priorities E. R. Stettinius, Jr.

Stettinius estimated that vanadium output in 1941 would be 3,750,000 lbs., "against an estimated need of 5,900,000 lbs. for the year." Requirements for 1942, he said, are expected to reach 7,150,000 lbs. The United States and Peru produce about 70 per cent of the world's supply of vanadium.

Franklin Man Is Killed In Crash

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 16.—Glenn Hazlett, 18, died shortly before noon today of injuries sustained earlier when his automobile crashed head-on into a heavily laden coal truck.

Joseph Kuzola was the driver of the truck, police said. Hazlett's brother, Robert, 14, was critically injured when the pair were buried beneath tons of coal.

Police said Hazlett was ascending the 15th street grade on the Pittsburgh road when the crash occurred.

PAY BOOST GIVEN LIQUOR EMPLOYEES

stated that the liquor control board had considered a plan of its own for increasing salaries.

Seventy-seven of the 262 employees affected are liquor store managers; 169 are head clerks and 16 clerks. One hundred and fifty-nine employees received raises of $2.39 a week, the rest amounts ranging from $1.20 to $4.80 a week.

Other Increases

The increase was the third for state employees in recent weeks. Some 16,000 maintenance and construction highway workers were given an increase of five cents an hour, while 75 of the 559 employees of the treasury department had their wages boosted from five to fifteen dollars a month.

The liquor board's explanation of the raises was that henceforth salaries would be based upon a new compensation system, effective Aug. 1, under which the salaries of managers and head clerks will be adjusted annually on the basis of average bottle sales for the previous two-year period, rather than upon dollar sales volume. State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner said higher living costs made increased salaries necessary, while Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes cited the necessity of meeting private industry competition.

CONGRESS TAKES THIRTY DAY REST

matters and keep up the pretense of a congressional session.

The house—all of whose members face primary elections in less than a year—took the recess more seriously than the senate and even its committees stopped work for 30 days.

In the senate, finance committee hearings on the tax bill are to continue, and enough senators were available to deal with a few relatively minor bills.

The vacation came in spite of the fact that such major pieces of legislation as the tax bill, price fixing and the proposed St. Lawrence seaway are yet to be disposed of and now are to wait for a month.

Under rules, neither house can adjourn for more than three days without the formality of a resolution. The vacation, therefore, consists of a series of three day recesses, with a "gentleman's agreement" that nothing will be done on the meeting days.

Russian Proposal

The proposal to Stalin that experts of the U. S. British and Soviet governments assemble immediately in Moscow to agree upon a common effort to defeat Hitler was recognized as first material evidence of the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting. Speculation was feverish as to the next step that will be revealed.

Of immediate concern to the United States is future control of the French-owned island of Martinique in the Lesser Antilles. President Roosevelt has warned that this island in unfriendly hands would constitute a definite menace to the security of the western hemisphere.

Similarly, the president has warned that French-owned Dakar in West Africa and the Portuguese-owned Cape Verde and Azores Islands could provide Hitler with formidable stepping stones for an invasion of the Americas.

Milk bars, now so popular throughout the country, originated in London more than 200 years ago.

Mrs. Allen Funeral Time

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillie Mae Allen, Volant, will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence with Rev. Homer K. Miller, pastor of the Volant-Rich Hill Presbyterian churches, officiating. Interment will be in Volant cemetery.

Mrs. Allen, widow of Seldon A. Allen, passed away Friday at noon, death being caused by complications following an illness of three months duration. She was born in Fayette on January 13, 1872, daughter of William and Sarah Harrah. She had been married for 50 years, and had resided in the Volant community for 50 years, where she was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Surviving are the following children, Guy C. Allen of Ocean, N. Y.; Mrs. H. C. (Martha) Sutherland of Jamestown, Pa.; William O. Allen of Volant, Mrs. A. W. (Mary) McCrumb of Volant; 10 grandchildren; on great-grandchild, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Thompson of New Castle.

RUSSIAN LOSSES NEARLY MILLION GERMANY CLAIMS

Military officials said that the Central and Northern fronts probably would "live up" as soon as the Ukraine is "liquidated."

Out of Marshal Semyon Budenny's million-man army of the Ukraine, Nazi authorities predicted triumphantly, probably only a few thousand will escape east of the Dnieper river to make a new stand between the Dnieper and Volga.

Desperate Fighting

Budenny's army now is fighting desperately in scattered pieces to save himself from the Nazi steel grips by crossing the Dnieper or by embarking from Odessa or Nikolaev. The spectacle was said to be rapidly assuming the appearance of a large-scale Dunkirk.

Hacked and slashed from its original strength of a million men, the Budenny army now has been cut up into regional units whose only safety lies in flight.

F. D. R. VACATION WILL END TODAY

Stalin was warned might develop. The joint Roosevelt-Churchill note to Stalin proposing a U. S.-British-Soviet conference in Moscow, as made public in Washington by Secretary of State Hull, contained this prediction of an expanded world battlefront. It brought immediately to mind the delicate situation in the Far East and the problem of French possessions in the western hemisphere now that the Vichy government has completely capitulated to Germany.

Waiting reporters also were curious to learn whether the British Prime Minister might be aboard the presidential yacht Potomac when it docks this afternoon. No word has been received of Churchill's return to London and Acting White House Secretary William D. Hassett said he "really didn't know" who would be accompanying the president back from the epochal three-day conference at sea.

JUNE TRAVERS BRIDE OF AMBROSE H. CASEY

RANEY-ELDER WEDDING FRIDAY

At 9:30 this morning, in St. Joseph's church, Miss June Travers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Travers, of Hillcrest avenue, became the bride of Ambrose H. Casey, Jr., son of Ambrose H. Casey, of Winter avenue.

Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra pronounced the vows, and Fr. Wiegand, of Villa Marie convent, was on the altar. Preceding the ceremony, the gregorian chant was sung.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white mousseline-de-soie with a full skirt, and headpiece fashioned after Mary, Queen of Scots, with a finger length veil of illusion. She wore lace mitts, elbow-length, and carried a white colonial bouquet of gardenias and roses. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a wedding gift of her father.

Miss Mary Lou Travers, serving as her sister's maid of honor, wore a coral gown, patterned like the bride's. Her veil was shoulder length, and she had lace mitts to match her dress. Her bouquet was of garden flowers.

Best man was Edward J. Flaherty, of Ellwood City, and Hubert Wagner.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served for members of the immediate families, at the New Castle Field club. Later, a reception was held, at The Castleton.

This evening, the young couple will leave on a trip through Canada and the New England states.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle high school, class of 1937, and has been employed at the Department of Public Assistance. Mr. Casey is also a graduate of New Castle high school, and attended Tri-State College, in Angola, Ind., where he was a member of Alpha Kappa Phi. He is employed in the sales department of the Personal Finance Company.

After September 1, the newlyweds will be "at home" to their friends, in a newly furnished apartment at 2909 Highland avenue.

EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY AUGUST 18

Mrs. Hannah M. Walls, of 401 Galbraith avenue, will observe her eighty ninth birthday anniversary on Monday, having been born August 18, 1852, in a brick home, nine miles from this city, on the old Mercer road.

Mrs. Walls was of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Piper Kemp, of seventeen children, three of whom survive. Besides Mrs. Walls is John P. Kemp, of Youngstown, aged 91 and Mrs. Florence Holstad, 82. Mrs. Walls parents built their own home, burned the bricks for their dwelling, which still stands in a good state of preservation, and is now owned by a Mr. Spiker. The house was the only one between New Castle and Mercer. Travelers stopped there for meals, "on their long trip" to Mercer. Having no stairs in the house, for a number of years, a large hole was bored through it, and large round boards inserted for steps, which the lodger climbed to the second floor to a bedroom, while the family occupied the first floor. Later steps were installed.

The family grew their own flax and wove their own linens for all kinds of use. The father was a cabinet maker by trade. He and all his sons, fought in the Civil war. Mrs. Walls has been a member of the Central Christian church, for over forty years, and has been an active worker, and has taken the prize for a number of years as the oldest mother. She has resided at her present home for 48 years, it having been built before the land was laid out in lots.

Jackson Walls, her husband, died in 1918.

Her children are Charles V. Walls of Cleveland, Percy B. of Boyles avenue, Ed. L. of St. Louis, Mo., Jay E. of Thorpe street, Mrs. W. E. Kerr of Scotland Lane. A daughter, Mrs. John Haas, Warren, Ohio, passed away over a year ago.

Mrs. Walls is in fairly good health.

AND STILL GROWING

THAT word "jeep" has taken a firm grasp on the American language, so firm that it bids strongly for an eventual place in the more authentic dictionaries. The lexicographers would be untrammelled in listing definitions for the newcomer. And the longer they wait formally to recognize "jeep," the longer will be the list. "Jeep" is applied to new things with abandon by uninhibited Americans.

The original "jeep" is a bizarre, wondrously sage creature which occasionally pops up in a comic strip. It would be grotesque if it didn't have so much appealing individualism and demureness. "Jeep" also is the name of a dance, cherished by youth and one of the highest forms of eclectic exhibitionism.

There are "jeeps" which have inebriated themselves in the national defense program, too. Certain types of Army trucks are called "jeeps." When the machines bounce over rough terrain at high speed, their occupants are involuntarily thrown into gyrations like those of "jeep" dancers. And the latest example of "jeepism" is the garb designed by the National Youth Administration of Illinois for women defense workers. The uniforms, for five separate lines of work, are all different, but each is called a "jeep."

"Jeepism" has become so popular because it's adaptable to a multitude of subjects. The word is a nice one, having facility of expression and denoting no scorn. The growth of the "jeep" movement has been inspired and supported by young people—the young readers who devour the comic strips, the young dancers, the young Army soldiers and the National Youth Administration.

More than any other current piece of unhallowed American terminology, "jeep" is youth's own. Long may it live.

STEEL A PRIORITY

Each day brings the United States closer to the full realization of the national defense emergency. There have been some spectacular items—curtailment of the sale of gasoline in the East and the dwindling supply of silk, to say nothing of the prospect of paying more taxes to foot the heavy bill.

But behind this vast program is the business of raw materials, not only of gasoline and silk, but of such things as tungsten and steel without which the nation cannot begin to forge the instruments of war. The greatest steel producing country in the world now has been forced to place steel on the priority list.

The decision was inevitable. America's great factories, gradually shifting from making the utensils of a peacetime industry to creation of the tools for national defense, will make fewer of the things with which Americans have become accustomed these many years—the automobile and all the other useful items used by a peaceful and prosperous nation.

Uncle Sam needs the steel for his tanks and guns and planes. Other commodities, of which the American people have been inordinately fond, also will be restricted. Uncle Sam needs the steel to build ships, fortifications and munitions. The new program entails dislocation of many industries. A plan is now under discussion to take up the slack which will be created and, ultimately, there will be a sort of coordination which will smooth out many of the industrial wrinkles. These things happen when there is a war in the offing.

WHO'S BOSS NOW?

This invasion business is not a new game. The women have been playing it for years. The program was not dedicated to the philosophy of the blitz. It came by easy stages.

First they got the vote, and thus armed they mooched in on the barbershop, the smoking car and the baseball game. Their big chance came during the speakeasy days. They roared into the delightful dens of pleasure and proceeded to out-sing and out-drink the male patrons. It was at this time that the girls broke off the last shackles of inequality and dissolved that fancy legend of being the weaker sex. They began to smoke and then to seal their victory they began to wear trousers. From then on the supremacy of the male began to wane.

The latest news—from Baltimore—adds one more drop of bitterness to the cup of woo. Some of the women of that city have organized the Put Your Husband in His Place Club and right at this moment they are in Miami for a ten-day frolic, without their husbands and without any dishes to wash or children to take care of.

The respective spouses have been given strict instructions on how to conduct themselves while their wives are making whoopee. They are to stay at home and keep the fires burning. They must get their own meals, carry on dealings with the butcher and the baker, keep the rooms clean and otherwise make themselves useful. Banish the thought that these men will kick over the traces. Definitely, they have been put in their places and they will stick to the rules, as provided by the ball-and-chain.

The men have only themselves to blame for their predicament. They had nourished themselves for years on the art of chivalry, gallantry and cavalierism. They had paid the bills and squired the ladies to balls and parties. They had made sacrifices and had offered the banal excuse that these things were being done in the interest of good breeding and gentility.

Now the men know where they stand, or rather where they sit, for very definitely they have been put in their places.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

TEACHER'S CHIEF VALUE IS TO CHILD

The following letter sent to me by a teacher brings up questions that will interest many parents and school authorities:

"My dear Dr. Myers: 'Thank you for your article about teachers needing to take a trip as a vacation. How well I realize it, and wish that I'd taken more trips and less summer schools.'

"I always thought that one should keep up professionally, but seeing some of the unpleasant things published about the pay teachers receive makes me wish I had had some fun myself, instead of dishing away at summer school year after year."

"I have always wanted to better myself, so I could do the very most for the children under my care. I feel now that if the added salary which a degree brings is to be begrudged me, it would have been far better to have spent my time in traveling.

For The Good Of Children

"I wish you could make parents see that harm is done to their children when such things are published about teachers. I thought when I went into teaching it was such a noble profession. I put in every ounce of my energy and every bit of my time and money to become a better teacher, by studying and taking courses.

"The morale of teachers is bound to be undermined if people can't be helped to see that those teachers who spend thousands of dollars for university courses and continuous summer schools—for work which will benefit their children—need to receive decent salaries in order to study."

I think I see this teacher's point of view. While she may be a little biased—we all are—she makes a good point in reminding us that our children are of first consideration; that as we set high standards for teachers and pay them enough to enable them to improve in their profession, we contribute to the welfare of our children.

Public Investment

I believe the best investment of public funds is in the salaries of teachers who are well-selected—healthy physically, mentally, emotionally; teachers with fine home and family ideals and personal integrity, poise, culture and refinement; teachers who understand children, love them and enjoy teaching.

We often wish more care were exercised in the choice of teachers, with a view to what they will mean to the children, and that there were better ways to retire those who by temperament, character or personal make-up are unfit to teach children.

We wish more teachers had as high ideals of their profession as the one who wrote this letter seems to possess. Choosing the best teachers to be had, let us see that they are paid decent salaries—not for the sake of the teachers so much as for our children. They come first. You may receive a list of books on "How to Study" and a page of "Tips to Students" by writing me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"They teach us to remember" why do they teach us to forget? was said by a philosopher whose name escapes us (and that may be just as well).

To forget nonessentials—unpleasant happenings—painful chapters of our lives, is as necessary as to remember important and useful things.

Why burden your memory with dates and figures, when there are a thousand reference books within your reach?

Let your memory be a treasure house and not a refuse can. Forgetting is the soft pillow that lets you sleep at night, memory the lumpy mattress that keeps you awake.

Leon Henderson Has Some Real Trouble
Finds War Boom Difficult To Control
Is Working Overtime To Avert Crisis

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Our last war and post-war boom and the following prolonged period of depression were recent enough to be remembered by a great many individuals in high governmental, financial, industrial, commercial and scientifically economic positions. Consequently, with our present defense boom swelling danger and bigger, there are many more references now than there were then to the kind of thing that booms invariably lead into.

The question is:

Can a would-be boom be prevented from popping up? Or, if not, can it be prevented from popping ultimately? Or, if a pop is inevitable, can such prearrangements be made as to render it harmless?

National Price Fixer Leon Henderson is working overtime to keep today's boom from attaining dangerous proportions. He admits that the infernal thing is gaining on him but he's doing his utmost to keep it from getting beyond control utterly. It never has been tried before. Hitherto booms have been considered very gratifying—as providing plenty of profits for capital and oodles of employment for labor and the popular demand has been to "let 'em flicker." That last experience, though, was a lesson, not far enough back to have been forgotten.

National Production Manager William S. Knudsen doesn't question Leon's system in principle, but he does argue that Leon's operating it so urgently as to threaten considerable unemployment right now, regardless of the future. Leon's answer is that a modicum of it today is better than a regular catastrophe of it later.

How Leon's scheme will work out finally remains to be seen. It's never been tried before.

Carmody's Plan

Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody's of the opinion that we can't prevent a boom while the war lasts or a collapse subsequently.

His notion is to provide a catch-all to scoop in unemployment and provide it with jobs when the explosion does come and scatters it all over the country. The catchalls to be a $25,000,000,000 six-year program of public improvements, to be started on the minute peace comes and war and defense work simmers down to nearly zero.

Herbert Hoover had something of such a plan after the 1914-18 war and it didn't work overly well. A lot of employment was provided but we had our depression anyway.

However, Herbert's was an after-

AN IMPORTANT ROAD

Three thousand miles to the southeast of California, Panamanian machete men and American engineers are working under hot tropic skies by day and electric floodlights by night to complete the first highway across the Isthmus of Panama since Spanish gold seekers first hacked out a trail across the ocean-dividing barrier in the seventeenth century.

Except the canal and a railroad built by an American company 91 years ago, no other land or water transportation facilities cross the strategic neck of land connecting two continents. A long-felt want since 1914, the needs of defense have at last prompted construction of a 50-mile route linking the cities of Panama and Colon.

But, unlike many defense-spurred activities, new roadways are a sound investment for a world of peace, with motor transport tied neither to the inflexible course of rails or rivers, threading new trade lanes, breaking down barriers of isolation, stimulating enterprise and making jobs.

That single 50-mile highway across the Isthmus will serve 200,000 inhabitants in the area it traverses, and place the population of a once inaccessible region right on a main stream of travel and commerce.

This, but a forerunner of what will be achieved when the great American highway, teeming with intercontinental traffic, is finally completed. Then "Rolling Down to Rio," for the producer and vacation seeker, will no longer be an idle song but an honest-to-goodness fact.

QUESTION

In this mad world of hate and strife, Of war in sky and earth and sea, One wonders if God's gift of life, By men must always ruined be, Must men forever fill the years With warfare's sweat and blood and tears.

Here in a land where lilies blow And tropic palm and northern pine, Where four seasons come and go And good is the supreme design, Men into bitter quarrels fall From time to time and spoil it all!

Men oft declare themselves to be God's greatest handiwork, and tell Their mastery of land and sea, And point to skills they used so well.

But thinking of the wars they start I wonder does God think them smart?

Not Playing The Game

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. FROM time to time it has been pointed out by a wide variety of persons that unwavering support of the President inevitably brings a man into conflict with his convictions—if he has any. A good many members of Congress have found that out in the past eight years. Another opportunity for the painful discovery shortly will be presented.

AN interesting if not edifying, roll call is pending. Because when the Senators and Representatives who recently supported the President's veto of the $320,000,000 omnibus highways bill are confronted with the billion-dollar omnibus, flood-control bill, exactly the same arguments used to justify their vote on the first will be properly used to condemn their vote on the second. If one was right, the other has to be wrong. There is no way to reconcile the two

Station Owners Wait Gas Orders

Haven't Yet Been Advised How
The Gas Rationing Plan
Will Work

New Castle gas station owners, now accustomed to nightly sales
"blackouts," today awaited word from their tank suppliers about the government's new rationing move.
Even the local branch offices of the major oil firms were without orders early this afternoon.

None of the service stations knew much about the sweeping new edict, set up by Leon Henderson, chief of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, and effective immediately.

One station owner commented:
"Aside from what I've read in the papers I know nothing about it.
But if they cut down my supply,
I'll just keep on selling as usual, and when my supply is gone I'll have to wait for more."

The government order, in effect, charged station owners in affected states with responsibility for equitable gas distribution among some 10,000,000 consumers.

Democratic strategy: Hesitate until the enemy grabs bases; then plan the endless job of getting him out.

DEALERS ORDERED TO REDUCE SALES BY TEN PER CENT

more drastic cuts in supplies of motor fuel.

Price Control and Civilian Supply Administrator Leon Henderson, who issued the curtailment order on Ickes' urgent recommendation, told gasoline suppliers to cut deliveries to 100,000 filling stations in the East by 10 per cent.

Commercial trucks and other vehicles necessary for maintenance of public health and safety are not affected by the government order.
Ickes estimated, however, that curtailment of gasoline consumption for non-commercial uses will approximate 20 per cent.

Both Ickes and Henderson admitted that the former's previous plan of closing filling stations from seven p. m. to seven a. m., which went into effect two weeks ago, had failed. As a matter of fact, they reported gasoline consumption increased eight per cent over the week before.

Henderson did not detail how filling stations would pass the curtailment on to motorists except to say they should administer the program to spread rationing "proportionately among different consumers."

Apportion Deliveries

"Deliveries to service stations must also be made proportionately throughout each month, and service station operators must distribute their deliveries proportionately throughout each day," he said.

Widespread confusion at filling stations was feared by defense officials. This was reflected on Ickes' admission that "it is not a perfect plan." Ickes and Henderson both said that the curtailment was a
"stop gap" measure to be used
"pending development of a further plan for allocating the distribution and consumption of motor fuel."

They explained that the curtailment order was made necessary by transfer to British service of tank-ers normally engaged in supplying the east coast with fuel from the gulf. Ickes added that the Middle West may be asked to give up some of its tank cars, and the Pacific coast may be requested to divert some of its tankers to use in servicing nations receiving American lend-lease aid.

If that happens, it was explained, curtailments in gasoline consumption also will be necessary in Middle West and Pacific coast states.

Ickes warned that the public can expect no relief from the drastic curtailments "for a good many months to come," despite voluntary reductions and construction of pipelines to furnish the East with petroleum.

Blames Hitler

"Primarily, Mr. Hitler and Mr.
Hitler alone," Ickes said, "is to blame for the scarcity of gasoline in the Atlantic coast states. When he ruthlessly overthrew the peace-loving democracies that stood in his way and struck at England, there was plenty of gasoline along the Atlantic seaboard and plenty of tankers to transport it.

This country still possesses all of the oil and gasoline that will be needed in any foreseeable contingency. What it lacks is means of transportation to get that gasoline to the heavily populated areas along the Atlantic coast."

Ickes warned there will be a "constant shrinkage" in east coast stocks during the months "immediately ahead," and it will continue "until we can make up our deficiency in transportation facilities."

States affected by the curtailment order in the East are:

Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont,
Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania,
New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland,
Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, a portion of Florida lying east of the Appalachicola river, and the District of Columbia.

Texas Approves Building Of 'Good Neighbors' Park On Texas-Mexico Border

By HENRY C. LYBRAND
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Preservation of the last great Texan wilderness was assured when Governor W. Lee O'Daniel recently signed a bill appropriating funds for establishment of the American section of Big Bend National Park.

The International "good neighbor" park will be constructed jointly by the United States and Mexican governments, and will be situated along the Texas-Mexico border where the Rio Grande river, winds between Brewster County, Texas and the states of Chihuahua and Coahuila in Mexico.

Congress first authorized its establishment on June 20, 1935. In the spring of 1936 a joint commission representing the governments of the United States and Mexico went into the area and established boundaries.

The appropriation act just signed by Governor O'Daniel authorizes the Texas State Parks Board to acquire by purchase, condemnation, or donation, lands in the proposed national park area not owned by the state and to transfer them to the federal government for park purposes.

Area Of Wild Beauty
In sheer, rough, wild beauty Big Bend stands alone, the National Park Service states. No railroad traverses its vastness, and its few roads are just trails that disappear into the rock wilderness. The area is a semi-arid plain, verging on desert, through which runs a group of mountain ranges, notably the rugged Chisos.

The National Park Service describes it as a land of contrasts. The desert is interrupted by mountain masses, and its streams alternately meander over broad flood plains and plunge through narrow canyons. A dramatic feature is the Rio Grande itself. This stream of song and story cuts a tortuous course through three steep-walled canyons in the park area—Santa Elena, Mariscal, and Boquilla—and wanders over the flat river plains.

The Chisos mountain group in the park is literally a biologic island. Separated from other mountain sections of Texas and New Mexico by a great expanse of desert, it rises alone a short distance from the international boundary and supports a variety of wildlife more closely allied to the flora and fauna of Old Mexico than to existing conditions elsewhere in the United States.

Among the native mammals found in the park are the Rio Grande beaver, Texas peccary, Sonoran deer, and kit fox, all of which are endangered species that may be saved in this part of the United States. Jaguars, Ocelots, and native wild turkey still occur south of Big Bend and may become a part of the park fauna in the future.

Archaeology Important
From an archeological standpoint the Big Bend country is unusually important because it is one of those rare areas where perishable artifacts have been preserved in dry caves through the centuries. In the caves of the jagged Chisos have been found good collections of sandals, matting, wooden implements, baskets and cooking utensils. The constitute superior materials for the study of the little-known cave dwellers culture of west Texas and provide good museum pieces.

Though it was crossed many times shortly after 1700 during the Spanish occupation of the Texas territory, used as a grazing land during the great days of the cattle industry, and explored for hidden wealth when the cinabar mines were opened nearby late in the nineteenth century, the Big Bend has withstood the assaults of man and retained its primitive character. The sparse population of the region has remained constant for 20 years.

Business Shows Large Increase

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Business in the Pittsburgh district last week advanced to the highest levels on record, remaining firm at 148.6 per cent of the 1923-25 average, it was reported today by the bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh.

The rise in business activity from 148.2, where it had stood for three weeks, was attributed mostly to a pronounced increase in department store sales. The bureau explained: "Although purchases in many lines of goods increased, the heavy buying in silk stockings and other silk materials is the chief explanation of the extraordinary large rise in total dollar sales."

The steel industry's operating rate rose slightly above 100 per cent. No change was reported in the number of blast furnaces in operation. Bituminous coal production was a little higher, the research group reported.

R. L. Hildebrand Seeks Judgeship

Former Judge Of Lawrence County A Candidate For Democratic Nomination

R. L. HILDEBRAND

R. Lawrence Hildebrand announces his candidacy for the office of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County subject to the Democratic primaries to be held Tuesday, September 9, 1947.

Mr. Hildebrand was born and reared in what is now the Eighth ward of the City of New Castle. Following his graduation from the New Castle high school he was employed for over a year as operator in the local tin mills. For three years he taught during the fall and winter in the schools of Shenango township, thus securing the funds which permitted him to attend Grove City college in the spring and summer. Following his graduation from that institution in 1903 he became successively principal of the Enon Valley schools, principal of the Parkers Landing schools and instructor in the New Castle high school. While so engaged he pursued the study of law and was admitted to the bar of Lawrence County in 1909. He has since been admitted to practice in the Appellate Courts of the state and the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

For over twenty years he has been a member of the American Bar Association and the Pennsylvania Bar Association. He is now president of the Lawrence County Bar Association. He served as district attorney from 1922 to 1926 and as President Judge of the Courts of the County from 1926 to 1936. Since retirement from the bench, Mr. Hildebrand has been engaged in general practice having had associated with him for the past twenty months his son, Merle H. Hildebrand. He has been a member of the First Baptist church of New Castle since childhood and a member of its board of trustees for the past fifteen years. For a number of years he was a director of the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home. He is a member and past president of the New Castle Kiwanis Club. He served as government appeal agent for the city of New Castle local board No. 2 under the selective service act until he determined upon his present candidacy. His Statement follows:

"The experience gained by me as judge and as district attorney has peculiarly fitted me to serve the public in the office of judge. In view of the opportunity which has been had by the electors of the county to judge of my conduct while in office, it would be futile for me to set forth what I regard as qualifications for the office or to make any detailed promises as to my conduct if elected. To make use of an old statement, my records in both offices stand as evidence of my firm belief that a public office is in fact a public trust. At all times I endeavored to faithfully discharge the duties of the office and, if again nominated and elected, my policy will be the same. Upon this basis I submit my candidacy."

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

TWO VARIETIES OF WINTER BARLEY EXCEL IN YIELDS

Acres of winter barley in the southern half of Pennsylvania has been increasing rapidly. The crop is an excellent substitute for wheat on fertile, well-drained soils where winters are not too severe and where a feed grain rather than a cash crop is desired. Less hardy than wheat, barley must be sown 10 to 14 days earlier.

Most winter barley has been of no recognized variety, but about ten years ago a late strain known as Kentucky No. 1 was introduced from that state and now is quite widely grown.

This strain tends to stool less and to be somewhat thinner on the ground than common sorts, but it has larger heads and heavier straw. It seems equally hardy and usually has outyielded the common sorts, sometimes by decided margins. In variety tests conducted at State College over a four-year period, Kentucky No. 1 has outyielded a good common bearded strain used as a check by an average of 4.9 bushels to the acre. In tests conducted by the agronomy department of the college in eight counties this year, Kentucky No. 1 averaged 44 bushels an acre, or 4.4 bushels better than the common bearded sort.

Another good variety which is not so generally grown or well tried is known as Poland. It also is late and resembles Kentucky No. 1 in hardiness, large heads and heavier straw. In three years' tests at State College, it averaged 3.1 bushels over the check, a little lower than Kentucky No. 1. In the agronomy department tests in eight counties this year, however, it averaged 45.9 bushels an acre, 1.9 bushels better than Kentucky No. 1, or 6.3 bushels over the check.

The two varieties both have rough beards as has the check variety. Beardless varieties have proved less hardy and more likely to lodge. They do not shed water so well in the shock and shatter more readily.

A good strain of beardless winter barley from York county tested six years at State College did fairly well in some years, but averaged 10.8 bushels less than Kentucky No. 1, while in the eight county tests conducted by the college this year it averaged only 34.8 bushels, or 4.8 bushels less than the common bearded sort. It averaged only 27.9 bushels in the county tests this year, 16 bushels less than Kentucky No. 1 and 11.7 bushels less than the rough-bearded common. Marnobarb lacks winter hardiness.

It is hard to say where there is any choice between the two top yielders and the check variety as to resistance in lodging. Any barley may lodge worse than wheat on very fertile soil, but still yield fairly well. Two bushels is the usual rate of seeding, but less can be used with early sowing and on very fertile soil.

DISEASE CONTROL HELPS TO GROW FINE FLOWERS
Without control, diseases would damage and destroy at least one-third of our flowers. Some of the most disease-susceptible flowers, such as hybrid tea roses, would likely produce only about half as many flowers on each bush and, in addition, disease attacks would so weaken the bushes that half of them would be winter-killed.

Black spot, one of the destructive diseases of roses, is caused by a fungus which is unable to make its own food and, therefore, must feed on other plants. The spores of the black spot fungus when in water send out little roots which can grow into a rose leaf and pull out food. For that reason, sprinkling is not the way to water a rose garden; the water should be run on the ground.

Since rain and dew cannot be kept off the rose leaves, however, it is necessary to spray or dust rose bushes each week during the growing season to control black spot. The spray should contain bordeaux or other forms of copper. Dust usually contains sulphur to act as a fungus deterrent.

When a leaf is covered with either copper or sulphur, the chemical poisons and kills the roots of the fungus spore as they try to enter the covering or outer layer of the leaf. With new leaves being put out all the time, it is necessary to spray or dust each week, and both the upper and under sides of the leaves must be covered.

The sulphur must be finely ground when used as a dust and it should contain 60 to 80 parts of sulphur in addition to other materials like lime. Weekly application of this dust also will prevent mildew on ornamentals, and it will lessen many other flower diseases, such as the rusts of snapdragons, aster and hollyhock.

SUMMER CARE OF FOOD IMPORTANT TO HEALTH
Torrid summer temperature brings special kitchen problems. The biggest problem of all is how to keep the family food supply in good condition in spite of heat and humidity. The health of the family can be safeguarded by proper care of food in the summer, and Mrs. Julia Taylor, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county, tells how it can be done.

place or the refrigerator right away. Don't let a whole dozen out of the refrigerator if you only want to use one. Just a few minutes of summer room temperature can add hours to the age of an egg.

Cooked egg dishes—These are worthy of special attention in any season. Many cases of summer food poisoning can be traced to them. Cream puffs, potato and other salads made with egg dressing, sandwiches from eggs, devilled eggs and custard all spoil quickly. Make them the day you want them. Keep them in the refrigerator or cool place up to the time you eat them.

Bread—A good place to keep bread is in a tin box. Scald and air this box at least once a week. In the summer, never shut the box tightly. Women who make bread at home are sometimes troubled with "ropy" bread during the summer. This is a sort of spoilage that occurs in the center of loaf after the bread is baked. It is caused by certain hard-to-kill bacteria.

Mrs. Taylor suggests the following procedure to get rid of bacteria. First, boil all utensils you use in bread making in a mixture of one part of vinegar combined with three parts of water. If you use potato water in your bread, omit that. If you use liquid yeast from week to week, get a fresh "starter." If you do all this and still have ropy bread, add about two teaspoons of 90-grain white vinegar to the liquid for an average baking of three one-pound loaves of bread.

HOUSE PULLETS WHEN THEY START TO LAY

Pullets usually are housed when they start to lay. This practice can apply to pullets that mature at any season of the year, and probably under good housing conditions there need be no deviation from this practice which, in general, will give less trouble from molting.

In hot weather, however, careful management is required to provide the most comfort for the fowls. Insulation makes a house cooler in summer as well as warmer in winter. Cross-ventilation is important. Floor and makes conditions on the floor and roosts more pleasant.

Pullets should be handled easily at housing time and not frightened or mistreated. It is best to lure them into the houses through feeding and training.

Grading is a natural accompaniment of housing. It gives the slower developers a better chance to mature normally.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The four horsemen of the apocalypse ride again.

War, Hunger, Disease and Death are on the move. Today's horsemen travel fast with mechanized facilities. Sudden, widespread outbreaks of disease are more likely.

Malaria, typhus, yellow fever and plague are constant threats.

Only stringent health activities keep them down.

In Poland and the Balkans typhus is said to be epidemic.

Plague seems far removed from the United States.

Yet plagues are potentialities requiring constant control measures.

Fleas, rats and other rodents are carriers of plague germs.

Atmospheric conditions assist in some degree in plague spread.

We must protect ourselves from diseases rampant during war.

Government 'Rest Camps' Will Provide Week-End Holidays For Army Boys

By KENNETH M. SCHEIBEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Johnny in the army can't murder the bugler, but he is being given the chance to lay down his gun and "rest camps."

Uncle Sam is building 32 of these camps in 19 states and the District of Columbia where his civilian soldiers can get a little relaxation from the week's rigors of "squad right" and "forward march!" Sixteen of the camps are already under construction, and a similar amount have been authorized.

Johnny has to pay his own way to the camps and for food he eats while he is there, but when 5 a. m. comes, he can snore peacefully on, unmindful of the top sergeant and his companion bugle—the little man who blows the horn. The army puts it this way:

"They may come in (at night) when they choose, and sleep all day if they wish!"

The army doesn't come right out and say so, but Johnny better be right back bright and early Monday morning for duty when leave is up. Sixteen "rest" camps are already under construction. They are near Jacksonville, and St. Augustine, Fla.;

Savannah, Ga.; Papezesset Beach, Mass.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Charleston, S. C.; Galveston, Tex., and on the Virginia side of the Arlington Memorial bridge in Washington, D. C.

New camps have been authorized near Huntsville, Ala.; Chicago and Havana, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; St. Louis, Mo.; Wilmington, N. C.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Island Beach, N. J.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Fort Worth and Lake Brownwood, Tex.; Yorktown Beach, Va., and in Anacostia Park, D. C.

Eight Camps In Operation
Eight camps already are in operation near Mobile, Ala.; Panama City and Pensacola, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; Cascade, Md., and Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula, Miss. The camps at Mobile and New Orleans are being increased in capacity from 500 to 1,000 and from 1,000 to 2,000 respectively. The rest of the camps will accommodate 500 or 1,000 men.

According to officials, water and sanitary systems, portable tent platforms, recreation halls, and swimming facilities will be provided at all camps.

No charge will be made for sleeping quarters and use of recreational facilities, and all camps are within walking distances of downtown sections of selected towns and cities.

BOSTON—Leading anglers of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Association give tyros the following advice: Smallmouth bass at ponds in the Plymouth and Cape Cod areas usually pass up plugs, but fall for shrimp and crickets, fished on a small hook with at least a six-foot light leader, from a boat anchored offshore at the edge of deep water. Some of these ponds produce on black plugs at night, according to the experts. Large mouth bass are not quite so fussy. They like pork chunks, fish on weedless hooks. They also like fly rod imitation mice at night.

Further Plans For Men's Garden Club Annual Corn Roast

Annual Event Of Club To Be Open To Public This Year; To Be Held August 26

"New Castle Beautiful." This is the slogan of the New Castle Men's Garden Club, and in an unostentatious way they have accomplished much along that line.

On Tuesday, August 26, the club will hold its annual corn roast to which the general public is being invited. According to the general chairman, Prof. Charles G. Lindner it will be held at heretofore in the gardens of the S. A. and Charles Black farm in East Brook.

So many people have expressed a desire to help in the worthy work that this club is doing in the city to make it "New Castle Beautiful" that the announcement of the corn roast being open to the public will no doubt draw a large attendance.

All funds raised will be used in the beautification of the city. Add to this the bountiful spread of good things to eat and the splendid entertainment for which the club is known and it will prove an evening perfect in purpose and enjoyment.

Owen P. Fox, chairman of service, announces that he has some of the best corn ever tasted arranged for and he and his committee are famous for their service in the past. J. W. Anderson, chairman of entertainment, promises some surprises in his department, also.

Tickets may be secured from any member of the Men's Garden Club.

In the suit of Julian Kaczmarek vs. the City of New Castle growing out of an automobile collision on May 21, 1940 when Kaczmarek was struck by a city truck driven by Charles Nolan, Judge W. Walter Braham handed down an opinion Friday, refusing a new trial in the case, and directing that the verdict brought in by a jury awarding Kaczmarek damages in the sum of $7,500 be permitted to stand.

The plaintiff's motion for a new trial contended that the verdict had been more than the amount allowed by the Workmen's Compensation board, and that the verdict was a substantial sum and "while smaller than we might have expected or favored, no mistake of the law on the part of the jury is discovered and we find that the ends of justice do not require a new trial. The motion is overruled and refused and an exception to the above order is sealed for the plaintiff."

Judge Braham in reviewing the case stated that the amount received had been more than the amount allowed by the Workmen's Compensation board, and that the verdict was a substantial sum and "while smaller than we might have expected or favored, no mistake of the law on the part of the jury is discovered and we find that the ends of justice do not require a new trial. The motion is overruled and refused and an exception to the above order is sealed for the plaintiff."

In the matter of a sale of real estate for taxes held May 1, 1940 wherein the county became purchaser and wherein exceptions were taken by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, the case which came before the court on an opinion and order was handed down Friday by Judge W. Walter Braham in which the court concludes it was an error and exceptions to confirmation of tax sale No. 3,300, May 1, 1940 by the county treasurer on property described, "Digiacoma, Giovanni 418-418 1/2 Lyndal street, school taxes $89.43, plus costs," are sustained and said tax sale as to said property is declared void. It was the contention of the petitioner that a statement of the taxes owed on the property was requested of the county treasurer who erroneously omitted the school tax for the year 1931, as a result of which the Home Owners Loan Corporation sustained a loss, inasmuch as they were making a loan on the property and the court contended that the mistake of the county treasurer could not be taken advantage of as there was an independent record of the taxes in the office of the county commissioners.

Louis Davis, colored, pleaded guilty before Judge W. Walter Braham to a charge of burglary, growing out of the entering of the home of John Blucher of Ellwood City, in October 1940, and the stealing of articles from the home. Davis was apprehended in North Carolina and was

"HAMMERIN' HANK" POPULAR

Before Manager Eddie Mead will permit Henry Armstrong to attempt a come-back he will have to prove to Mead he is "right"; that is, in splendid condition. South America and Panama and small clubs in the U. S. went to see Eddie, even though he no longer is champion. Armstrong wants to fight again it is reported because some of his investments have not proved so good.

Aged Man Wounds Son And Suicides

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Eighty-one-year-old Joseph Lombardi shot his son and then took his own life today in their home near the Pittsburgh Field Club, the coroner reported.

The son, Aladino Lombardi, 41, was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital where he was found with a wound in the wrist and chest, caused by a single bullet.

The son said his father awakened him, said "Dini, I'm dead," then shot him. With the help of his brother-in-law, Angelo Tambellini, who lives in the same house, Aladino managed to disarm his father.

READY DISPLAYS FOR FAIR OPENING

'Greater New Castle Fair' Gates Open Tuesday For Three-Day Run

Grooming of displays of the various departments of the Greater New Castle fair, which opens to the public Tuesday, August 19, was in progress today.

The Harlansburg road grounds are ready, the exhibits organized and now only the weatherman's blessing remains to make the three-day-and-night exposition a success.

Larger crowds are expected this year. Even the gas rationing of the government is expected to reflect in the gate attendance because motorists who would otherwise have gone for a spin will turn their cars to the showground for an afternoon or evening of fun.

The fair will be open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

WRIGHT, KREUZ PICK ALL-STARS

New Castle Free Baseball School Team Faces Butler Tuesday Night

INSTRUCTORS PRAISE
NEW CASTLE YOUTHS

Al Kreuz and Glenn Wright, conductors of New Castle's free baseball school, today named the all-star squad which will represent the city in the Western Pennsylvania playoff tournament.

The all-star squad selected by Kreuz and Wright follows:

Pitchers—Jack Adams, 605 Court street; Carl Congemi, 219 Friendship street; Ed. Van-Dusen, 216 Fairmont avenue; Walt Majors, 206 1/2 North Mulberry street and Phil Colella, 448 Park street, Rochester.

Catchers—Al Morella, 301 Taylor street, and Ed. Holter, Rochester, Pa.

Infielders—Jim Mayberry, R. F. D. No. 5, New Castle; Pete Bvers, 416 Highland avenue; Al Orlando, 207 West Wabash avenue; Gene Ghez, 103 North Ray street; Harry Connors, Elm street, Bessemer; Bob Nelson, 609 North Ray street.

Outfielders—Steve Shabala, 1813 Pennsylvania avenue; Paul Johnson, Elm street, Bessemer; John "Rags" Genneck, 318 Home street; Bob Maher, 615 West Washington street, "Buzz" Hiler, 110 Sycamore street.

The general diamond pro's faced a trying situation in selecting the squad, so outstanding is the baseball talent here.

"I can say for myself, and for Kreuz for that matter, that the New Castle school was attended by a group of gentlemen. The boys listened and played diligently. It was a treat to come here during the past few weeks to teach such a fine group of boys," Wright, one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball, said.

Play At Butler

New Castle makes its opening bid for the district coronet on Tuesday night at 7:45 o'clock (E. S. T.) at Butler, facing the Butler all-star aggregation. The game will be played in the park used by the Butler Yankees of the Penn-State circuit.

Wright and Kreuz request the squad to assemble at George Washington Junior High field Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock for a final drill. The boys will receive complete new uniforms following the session. The diamond flannels are gifts of the Atlantic company.

The local schoolmasters will leave for Butler by bus at 4:30 o'clock.

A large New Castle delegation is expected to follow the team to the neighboring city.

Admission to the park is free.

Yankees Release
Hurler Steve Peek

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Steve Peek, young right handed pitcher, today was a member of the Newark Bears following his release on option by the New York Yankees. Manager Joe McCarthy explained he sent Peek to the Yankee farm in order to give the young hurler sufficient work.

With a record of four won and two lost, Peek faced the prospect of little work with the Yanks due to the abundance of starting pitchers on the club.

Ted Williams Likes Briggs Field

Only Player Ever To Hit Ball
Outside Park

By JAMES DAVEY
(International News Service Staff Writer)

DETROIT, Aug. 16—Ted Williams, lanky Boston Red Sox outfielder, has on more than one occasion voiced his preference for Briggs stadium over any other ball park. He says he can hit there and his performance bears out this assertion.

He is the only player ever to hit a fair ball out of the park since it was remodeled three years ago and a double-deck grandstand extended around its entire circumference.

Add to that the fact he hit two fair balls out of the park on one afternoon and you can readily see he has a pretty good idea of the lay of the land thereabouts.

Batting against Bob Harris, who was later traded to the St. Louis Browns, Williams connected with a ball that carried high onto the top of the right field stands and bounded out of the park. On his second trip to the plate he lashed out a ball that cleanly sailed over the right topmost part of the stadium.

Throughout the present season, Williams has been one of the heartiest hickory swingers in the majors. He is leading the American league batters with an average that hovers around the 400 mark and seems destined to claim the crown in this department. He is also one of the leading home run hitters.

Hildebrand-Bowman Situation In Mess

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16—The deal between the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Paul of the American association involving pitchers Joe Bowman and Oral Hildebrand, stirred up new complications today as the on-again-off-again trade was reported on-again.

Bowman turned up at Pirate headquarters this week and announced that the St. Paul club had returned him because he had a sore arm. Club President Bill Benswanger, assuming the deal was off, ordered him to return to his Kansas City home and take treatment for the injured limb.

Today, Benswanger disclosed that the St. Paul club had wired denials of refusing Bowman, claiming instead that he had been suspended. The Pirate official erased Bowman's name from the club roster again, and reinstated Hildebrand's, but promptly announced that Hildebrand had been suspended for failing to report to Pittsburgh.

Favor Alsab In Juvenile Event

Colt Bought For $700 Picked
To Win $20,000
Race

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—The two-year-old turf situation being what it is from the standpoint of public interest and importance to date, with no member of the division standing alone at the top of the freshman class, the $20,000 added Washington Park Futurity tomorrow looms as not only the best but the most important juvenile contest of the year on American tracks.

Many horsemen regard Mrs. Albert Sabath's $700 purchase, Alsab, as the best youngster to appear in recent years and the outstanding performer of the current season, a colt likely to deny his handicap of not being eligible for some of the most important stake fixtures which usually play an important part in determining the time.

If Alsab either beats or scares away the winner of these other events when he appears it will be difficult to deny his claim to the two-year-old crown. Mrs. Sabath's colt had a handy workout yesterday, going five furlongs in 1:02 and the half in :45 3-5.

BOSCO HURLS WIN

Joe Bosco proved himself master of the situation last night as he handcuffed the Office team, 3 to 0. This is the first shutout of the league to date. The Office team only obtained three hits, while the Babbitt team pushed over 8 runs in the first two innings, for the only scores. Halaglan, Colangelo and Fair starred for the Babbitts, while the work of Seeger, with a triple and Anderson with a double, was best for the losers.

Score by innings: R H E
Office . . . . . 000 000 0-0 3 1
Babbitt . . . . . 520 000 8-10 6
Batteries: Office, Failla, Hare and Anderson; Babbitts, Bosco and Melcer.

BRASS SHOP WINS

In the final game of the evening the Brass Shop team pushed across eight runs in the sixth inning and took an 11 to 5 decision from the Sheet Metal team. Hunter hurried for the Brass boys while Wright pitched for the losers. Gesse, Mangieri and Rich each with a triple and a single starred at the plate for the "Brassies" while Bob Shaffer had three of the losers nine hits.

Score by inning: R H E
Brass Shop . . . . . 000 118 1-11 12 1
Sheet Metal . . . . . 320 000 9-5 9 5
Batteries: Brass Shop, Hunter and Pascarella; Sheet Metal, Wright and Shaffer.

Jimmy Dykes, who has probably drawn more fines for his personal tiffs with umpires than other pilot, has one standing rule—he insists on paying the fines, never expecting the Chicago White Sox management to shell out—Pitt University's 41 edition, so it goes, is being built around "Special Delivery" Jones. An exceptionally fine foundation, me thinks.

Bronko Nagurski, who turned to the rather disreputable sport of wrestling after majoring in football at Minnesota, has bought a 700-acre farm right in Minney. A good spot to rear some grid timber for his ex-boss, Bernie Bierman. . . Major league scouts are winking at "Babe" Meers, a good southpaw peger with Memphis.

Jefferson A. C. Preparing To Stage Exciting Bouts
Here

HOLD OPENING SHOW
TUESDAY, AUGUST 26

Jefferson Athletic club is preparing to put on one of the punchiest shows yet held here Tuesday, August 26, in the Arena. Russell Baxter, welterweight; Frankie Moran, lightweight; Les Leasure, middleweight, and his younger brother, Baby Face, having been signed.

Russell proved the outstanding star of last winter. Moran was in "dry dock" with a bad nose. However, Les and his baby-faced brother came along fast and indications are this quarter, plus Billy Reale, the round-house swinger will be the mainstays of the fall's fistie rivalry.

The Jefferson A. C. has operated for several years and practically every show has been a success from a punch angle. In addition the club has staged many benefits and some worthy institutions of the city have gained financially through the boxing efforts at the Jefferson.

No shows were held recently because boxing officials realized it would be folly to ask fans to enter even an air-cooled arena. However, now that blankets are needed at night, the Jefferson is ready to start the gloves flying.

Because of increased costs the prices for the coming show will be 90 cents and 60 cents. These prices include tax. However, the fact that one-half of the docket will be composed of local boys will bring out the fans, it is hoped.

Daring Holdup Of Tavern Nets Lone Thug $46

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16—A youthful bandit "with a lot of nerve" stole nonchalantly into a West Elizabeth tavern early today, blasted the back of the bar with one shot while 30 customers covered in the corner, and fled in an automobile with $46 of the night's receipts.

About 30 and well-dressed, the bandit, disguised by a handkerchief over his face, walked into the Alex L. Biddle tavern with a shotgun under his arm. He lined up the patrons against the wall, and pointed the weapon at Deputy Coroner Jack Biddle, 25, son of the owner, who was tending bar.

"I shifted my eyes for something to hit him with, when he ordered me to turn over everything," Biddle related. "I dropped behind the bar and he fired one blast from that gun. The shot hit the back of the bar. He then reached into the cash register and pulled out the bills."

Pennsylvania motor police at Elizabeth and county detectives were told the bandit had "a lot of nerve," and that the customers were too scared to do anything.

Southern Cal Appoints Barry

Man Who Has Assisted Late Howard Jones For Many Years Gets Grid Job

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Justin M. (Sam) Barry was busy receiving congratulations today on his appointment as successor to the late Howard Jones as head football coach at the University of Southern California.

Barry's appointment was announced by Dr. Rufus B. Von Kleinsmidt, university president. For 12 years the No. 1 man on the late mentor's board of strategy, Barry signed a one-year contract for an undisclosed salary, believed to be more than $11,000. Little significance was attached to the one-year term as most of the school's faculty members have year-to-year contracts.

Need Line Coach
It was understood Barry will continue as head coach of baseball and basketball for the time being. A line coach to succeed Jeff Cravath, who resigned last spring to become coach at University of San Francisco, will be appointed soon upon the recommendation of Barry.

"I consider it a great honor to be selected for the job," said Barry. Barry was called from his coaching school at Monterey to receive the appointment. "Howard Jones and the Trojan varsity squads over a long period of years have established a tradition for clean, hard-fighting football that I will make every effort to maintain."

Barry was brought to U. S. C. from University of Iowa by Jones in 1929 as baseball and basketball coach and assistant football coach. The two had served together at Iowa until Jones was called to U. S. C. in 1924.

OHIO STATE FOES

'WILL SEE RED'

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O. — When youthful Paul "Buck" Brown took charge of the Ohio State university football team this year he promised to overhaul the somewhat battered and rundown Buckeye grid machine.

The latest innovation announced by the former Massillon, O., high school mentor is a scheme to make the opposition "see red." That's what they'll see, because the Buckeye gridriders will be clad in flaming, fire-truck scarlet from head to foot this season.

The new Ohio State uniforms consist of scarlet satin pants, scarlet jerseys with large white block numbers, scarlet helmets along with scarlet socks—and scarlet shoes.

JAP BOY BIDS FOR TURF HONORS

Kubuki, Jockey, Has Booked Ten Winners Home

By PARKS FRANCIS, Jr.
(International News Service Sports Writer)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Adding an international flavor to this summer's California fair circuit today is Yoshio Kubuki, Japanese boy jockey. Yoshio—that means Joe in Japanese—boomed them home at the Pleasanton track with a total of ten wins during his limited riding career.

The boys in the jockey room had trouble remembering Yoshio Kubuki's name, so they shortened it up to just plain "Kokomo Joe," a moniker to which he answers with an infectious smile. Yoshio is 19 and weighs 95 pounds and is the son of a Seattle vegetable merchant. He never saw a horse race until last winter at Santa Anita where he had gone to visit his cousin. The next morning he asked for "a job to guide the horse," as he puts it.

Charley Brown gave Yoshio his first mount at Caliente. The horse was a stopper, finished well out of the money. Not wishing to discourage Yoshio, Brown told the boy he did all right.

"The horse was merely short," Brown told him in race track jargon.

Yoshio dismounted, looked the horse over from head to tail, and said:

"Look long enough to me. Excuse, please, maybe you just want to make Yoshio feel happy."

Since then Yoshio has improved by leaps and bounds. Brown opines that after a couple of months around the half-milers of the fair circuit this fall and be a sensation.

"I wonder why more Japanese boys do not try their hand at riding," says Brown. "Physically, they're built just right to sit on a horse, and few of them are troubled making weight."

One of Yoshio's best boosters is Eddie Thomas, the Pleasanton starter.

"That boy hasn't a nerve in his body," says Eddie. "He's no trouble at the gate at all. Temperamentally, he has what it takes. Kokomo Joe never gets mad, never gets excited."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALE

Those who ride bicycles should observe the same traffic laws that pertain to the auto... too many boys and girls just don't seem to care where they ride, just so they ride. . . . A young boy about 14 years of age has the habit of riding his bicycle in heavy traffic at the top of the Coal Town Hill. . . . he has quite a following among the citizens of New Castle, they are waiting to read about his accident. . . . he has the attitude that he can do whatever he pleases and that each motorist should stop and give him the right of way. . . . The fellow who insists on getting the right of way doesn't always live to tell about it.

The swimming pool at the Park is closed. . . . because the heavy rains damaged the filtering system. . . . but that doesn't mean that Kiddies Day next Monday will be a flop. . . . the other attractions will be there and picnics will be held in the "grove" . . . and from the looks of things now. . . . it will be too cool to do much swimming the rest of the summer. . . . If everything goes alright. . . . next summer the pool will be better than ever.

A certain bridge club in town. . . . composed of very nice people. . . . are becoming rather serious in their attempt to conserve for defense. . . . they have been using the same "tally" cards for the past three months. . . . after each session the women get together and erase the totals and there my friends you have a great savings. . . . rather odd people we have here, says what?

Next week the Greater New Castle Fair will be in progress. . . . some mighty fine stock will be on display. . . . did you know that here in Lawrence County? If you don't believe this statement go out to the fair and look around. . . . and while you are there don't forget to look up the Ne-Ca Novelty Company. . . . in Merchants Hall.

Tomorrow is Sunday. . . . don't forget that it pays you to live correctly. . . . and you are the one who will make this country prosper. . . . all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. . . . but all play has its faults too!

Don't forget the classified ad page. . . . it tells a story in such a way that results come faster than you can say Classified Ad Page

STOCKS

Stock Market
Is Dull Today

Minor Gains And Losses Are About Evenly Divided
In Market Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The stock market today turned in one of its quietest sessions of the year.

Minor gains and losses were evenly divided and the combined price averages were barely changed at the final bell. Volume ran around the 1941 low of 107,100 shares, reached on May 31.

There were few movements of note. Dow slipped more than a point in a generally soft chemical group. Aviation and building shares also lost ground.

General Motors was up about a half-point, but the rest of the group moved narrowly. Some of the steels, including U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, moved up fractions.

Many pivots held at last night's closing throughout the two-hour session. These included Kennecott, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil of N. J., Woolworth and N. Y. Central.

There was little trading in the bond market and U. S. government bonds were mostly unchanged to lower. Corporate bonds were slightly easier. The curb market was colorless with trading at an extremely slow pace.

Travelling Lab Here August 19th

Penn State Chemistry "Laboratory On Wheels" To Exhibit here

The chemistry "laboratory on wheels," now touring the state for engineering demonstrations at class centers of the Pennsylvania State College, will appear in New Castle at the Senior High School on Tuesday, August 19, at 10:00 a. m. L. C. Black, administrator of the center, announced today.

The chemistry unit has been leased by the Penn State Extension Service for use at 98 class centers in the state where the college is preparing more than 3200 high school graduates for special engineering jobs in defense.

Purpose of the demonstrations is to present to these defense classes graphic exhibitions of rudimentary experiments in chemistry engineering, experiments that will be closely correlated with classroom instruction. The public is invited to attend.

Many Experiments

The program will include a sequence of more than three dozen experiments, comprising the story of chemistry as related to everyday life and to engineering principles. The demonstration runs the gamut of experiments from the origin of chemistry and ancient alchemy to the modern uses of cold light.

The students taking the Penn State summer course in introductory engineering subjects at New Castle and Ellwood City will see the demonstration as supplementary to their classroom and laboratory work. Demonstrators will be Dr. R. D. Billinger, of the Lehigh University faculty, and Dr. Lester Kieft, of the Penn State extension faculty.

Harvey Leitz, Jr., of the Franklin Institute, from which the unit has been leased, will be technician. The special summer classes which will see the demonstration have been set up under the U. S. Office of Education to offset the possible shortage of technically-skilled labor in important defense industries. Penn State is using its Extension Services to train more than 20,000 men and women, among them the high school graduates, for such jobs as the course.

Italy Re-Doubling Her War Efforts

(International News Service) ROME, Aug. 16.—With a call for a redoubled war-effort the Italian government-inspired press on Friday scornfully rejected the Roosevelt-Churchill peace formula.

"An Axis military victory alone will insure freedom of the seas and redistribution of raw materials," the newspaper Popolo Di Roma said.

"Roosevelt's enunciation of war aims is clear proof of the intention of America to enter the war."

"The Anglo-Saxons' real war aim is resurrection of the League of Nations. They plan to make Russia Europe's watch-dog, keeping 400,000,000 Europeans and 8,000,000 Japanese under the rubber truncheons of British Russian, and American mercenaries."
